

Decision-support architecture

Prediction alone stops at the third box. It yields a score without a reason, at a stage it cannot name, and so cannot say which lever to pull or when. The explanation and interpretation links are what convert a ranked list into a decision -- and the evidence here is that their value is highest early, not at the cart.